EDUCATIONAL POSITIONS

- | | |
|--------------|---|
| 2017-present | Chair, Department of Geography, Dartmouth College |
| 2015-present | Professor, Department of Geography and Department of Environmental Studies, Dartmouth College

Professor, Ecology, Evolution, Environment & Society (EEES) Program, Dartmouth College |
| 2006-2015 | Associate Professor, Department of Geography and Program in Environmental Studies, Dartmouth College |
| 2000-2006 | Assistant Professor, Dartmouth College, Department of Geography and Program in Environmental Studies (joint appointment) |

RESEARCH INTERESTS

Human-environment relations (political ecology, environmental politics, sustainable development); water conflicts; transnational river basins; environmental policy; environmental history; geopolitics of development; politics of scale; politics of knowledge production.

EDUCATION

PRESENTATIONS

Conference Presentations

“Integrating environmental justice into urban river restoration: Lessons from the United States” (co-author with F. Magilligan and C. Fox). Presented at the International Geographical Congress (IGC) Bi-Annual Meeting, Dublin, Ireland, 24-30 August 2024.

“The ‘world’s largest batteries’: A political ecology of pumped storage hydropower (PSH),” (with C. Ohler Garcia and A. Spang). Paper presented at the Annual Meeting of the Association of American Geographers, 23-27 March 2023, Denver, Colorado, USA.

“Rivers of justice? River restoration as environmental justice,” (co-author with F. Magilligan, lead, C. Fox, and A. Bramsen). Paper presented at the Annual Meeting of the Association of American Geographers, 23-27 March 2023, Denver, Colorado, USA.

“Visualizing water conflicts: Mapping contested hydropower projects in the Mekong Basin,” (co-author with M. Irengbam, lead). Paper presented at the Annual Meeting of the Association of American Geographers, 24-28 February 2022, Virtual Meeting.

“Rethinking the environmental state: State Power and ecological restoration” (with F. Magilligan and C. Fox). Paper presented at the Annual Meeting of the American Association of Geographers, New Orleans, MA, 9-14 April 2018.

“‘Save the river, save the dam’: An historical political ecology of the Swift River Valley, Massachusetts, USA” (with C. Fox and F. Magilligan). Paper presented at the Annual Meeting of the Association of American Geographers, Boston, MA, 4-9 April 2017.

“Conflicts over dam removal in New England: The good, the bad, and the ugly” (with C. Fox and F. Magilligan). Paper presented at the Annual Meeting of the Association of American Geographers, Boston, MA, 4-9 April 2017.

“The social and political context of dam removals: The role of nature, knowledge and place” (with Coleen Fox and Frank Magilligan). Paper presented at Internaiotnal Workshop on Dam Removal: New Environemtns and New Landscapes? Social, Cultural and Political Issues, University of Poitiers Humanities and Social Science Research Center (MSHS), Poiters, France, 4-5 December 2015.

“Novel Ecosystems, Novel Governance, Novel Political Ecologies? Conflicts over Dam Removal in New England,” Paper presented at the Annual Meeting of the Association of American Geographers, Tampa, FL, 8-13 April 2014.

“Concrete revolution: Geopolitics, large dams, and the Cold War, 1933-1975,” Workshop Commemorating the 20th Anniversary of the American Term, Charles University, Prague, Czech Republic, 15 May 2013.

“The ‘New’ Politics of Mekong Hydro-development: Identity, Scale and Conflict,” Rohatyn Center for Global Affairs, First Annual International Conference, The Politics of Freshwater: Access and Identity in a Changing Environment, Middlebury College, Middlebury, VT, March 14-16, 2013.

“A political economy of fisheries in large river systems: The altered Mekong,” Paper presented at the Annual Meeting of the Association of American Geographers, New York City, 24-28 February 2012.

“The ‘modern Cheops’: John L. Savage, the Bureau of Reclamation and the geopolitics of technical assistance, 1935-1950,” Paper presented at the Annual Meeting of the Association of American Geographers, Seattle, WA, 12-16 April 2011.

“The Sinew of Development”: Cold War geopolitics and the proliferation of large dams in Southeast Asia, 1957-1975, Paper presented at the Annual Meeting of the Association of American Geographers, Washington, DC, 14-18 April 2010.

“Dams as assemblages: Cold War geopolitics, technological expertise and river alteration, 1950-1970,” Paper presented at Water Worlds Panels at the 4S (Society for the Social Studies of Science) Meeting, Washington, DC, 28 October-1 November 2009.

“Environmental ‘spaces’ and the geopolitics of development: the globalization of large dams, 1933-1975,” presented at Spaces of International Politics Workshop, 6-8 November 2008, Dartmouth College, Hanover, NH, USA.

“‘26,000 miles along Reclamation Street’: the global circulation of ‘river basin development’ discourse, 1950-1970,” presented at the 103rd Annual Meeting of the Association of American Geographers, 15-20 April 2008, Boston.

“River basin politics and the rise of ‘ecological’ democracy in Southeast Asia and Southern Africa,” presented at Seminar on “Water, Politics, and Development: Transforming sanctioned discourse into strategic approach,” World Water Week, 12 August 2007, Stockholm, Sweden. (co-presenter with Coleen Fox)

“Fisheries science and the politics of knowledge production in the Mekong region,” Keynote Speaker presentation at Critical Transitions in the Mekong Region Conference, Regional Center for Social Science and Sustainable Development (RCSD), 29-31 January 2007, Chiang Mai, Thailand.

“Fish, science and the politics of knowledge production in Southeast Asia,” at the 102nd Annual Meeting of the Association of American Geographers, 7-11 March 2006, Chicago, IL.

“River basin politics and the rise of ‘ecological’ democracy in Southeast Asia and Southern Africa,” at the 101st Annual Meeting of the Association of American Geographers, 5-9 April 2005, Denver, CO.

“Struggles over dams as struggles for justice: the World Commission on Dams (WCD) and anti-dam campaigns in Thailand and Mozambique,” invited presentation at the Environmental Justice Abroad Conference, Rutgers University, 16 October 2004.

“Environmental conflicts and the politics of primitive accumulation in Southeast Asia,” at the Tenth Biennial Conference of the International Association for the Study of Common Property (IASCP), Oaxaca, Mexico, 9-13 August 2004.
